What Are Chemtrails?

"We are dealing with Star Wars. It involves the combination of chemtrails for creating an atmosphere that will support electromagnetic waves, ground-based, electromagnetic field oscillators called gyrotrons, and ionospheric heaters. Particulates make directed energy weapons work better. It has to do with "steady state" and particle density for plasma beam propagation.

They spray barium powders and let it photo-ionize from the ultraviolet light of the sun. Then, they make an aluminum-plasma generated by "zapping" the metal cations that are in the spray with either electromagnetics from HAARP, the gyrotron system on the ground [Ground Wave Emergency Network], or space-based lasers. The barium makes the aluminum-plasma more particulate dense. This means they can make a denser plasma than they normally could from just ionizing the atmosphere or the air.

More density [more particles] means that these particles which are colliding into each other will become more charged because there are more of them present to collide. What are they ultimately trying to do up there -- is create charged-particle, plasma beam weapons.

Chemtrails are the medium - GWEN pulse radars, the various HAARPs, and space-based lasers are the method, or more simply:

Chemtrails are the medium -- directed energy is the method."

Have you noticed anything unusual in the sky lately?

HAARP: Weaponizing the Atmosphere

High-frequency Active Auroral Research Program (HAARP) is a field of antennas on the ground in Southeastern Alaska linked together to work as one giant antenna. Today, it is the world's largest radio frequency (RF) broadcaster, with an effective radiated power (ERP) of three to four billion watts. It uses a unique patented ability to focus the RF energy generated by the antenna field, injecting it into a spot at the very top of the atmosphere in a region called the ionosphere.

As you can imagine, injecting that much RF energy into a spot about twelve miles across by about two and a half miles deep (by about ninety miles up), heats the thin atmosphere of the ionospheric region by several thousand degrees. HAARP, then, is a type of device called an ionospheric heater.

HAARP is one of about twenty ionospheric heaters scattered around the planet and in use today—but it is the largest and most powerful, and the only one that can focus its output. This heating of the ionosphere allows scientists to do a number of things. Controlling and directing the processes and forces of the ionosphere by intentionally modifying it is called "ionospheric enhancement."

An early HAARP document stated: "The heart of the program will be the development of a unique ionospheric heating capability to conduct the pioneering experiments required to adequately assess the potential for exploiting ionospheric enhancement technology for Department of Defense (DOD) purposes." [1]

What might those DOD purposes be? Something about winning wars, eh?

Chemtrails make us sick!

symptoms include but aren't limited to:

- persistent hacking coughs
- burning throats
- upper respiratory and intestinal distress
- pneumonia
- ME , chronic fatigue
- lethargy
- dizziness,
- disorientation
- heart attacks and high BP within 2 hours of spraying
- thickening of blood
- splitting headaches
- elevated arthritis symptoms
- tingly feelings all over
- severe flu-like symptoms
- allergic reactions
- unexplainable nosebleeds
- Morgellon's disease
- Sudden death

HAARP is a Directed Energy Weapon

HAARP is (used for / as)

1. An ionospheric heater
2. A research tool
3. A military test bed
4. A directed-energy weapon
5. An Earthquake Machine
6. A communication system for submarines
7. A source of field-aligned ionospheric VHF reflectors
8. A way to improve satellite links
9. A planetary x-ray machine
10. Electronic warfare
11. Tesla's wireless power transmission
12. Tesla's secret death ray
13. Enforcing the New World Order
14. Creating nuclear-scale explosions
15. Weather modification
16. CIA mind control
17. Brain wave modification

How Do You Like Your Weather?
Natural or Man Made

HAARP can be used to:

- control weather
- disable global communications systems,
- as the most destructive nuclear weapon yet known
- alter behaviour through EMF manipulation.

EMF's are destructive to health:

- Life-energy field breakdown
- Cellular energy decreases
- destabilize metabolism
- damage cells and brain circuitry
- cause degeneration of the nervous system
- cause hormone imbalance
- disrupt brainwaves
- cause cell mutation and reproductive disorders
- create cancer
- are linked with most modern degenerative diseases

What Can I do?

- Educate yourself and others
- Contact your local government
- Join a group opposed to Chemtrails
- Send letters to local papers
- Copy and distribute this leaflet or have an information stall
- Spread the word: inform family and friends
- E-mail or text your networkers: it might just be the most important post they ever receive
- Eat organic foods, drink plenty of filtered water and boost your immunity with herbs and detox your body with colonic hydro-therapy
